

TRACY MARSHALL

TracyMarshall314.com
tracy.marshall3.14@gmail.com

Experienced community college Religious Studies Instructor: Innovative, technological, adaptable. Has a strong desire to prepare learners for their future.

Key Skills

RELIGIOUS STUDIES: Develops religious studies curriculum, maintaining the integrity of the field, that is meaningful to modern students, promotes critical thinking and deep learning and builds confidence in connecting with others of diverse backgrounds.

EDUCATION: Understands and studies the process of learning required to produce high-quality, pedagogically strong, student-centered learning artifacts that are engaging to multiple learning styles, intellectual levels and diverse perspectives.

TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATION: Determines which technologies are best suited for learning based on content, pedagogy, cognitive science, educational psychology and learning style. Academic goals are primary. Technology is a tool that assists in accomplishing primary goals.

ON-LINE COURSE DESIGN: Creates new online courses and translates existing college courses into web-based classes incorporating a variety of multimedia tools and software. Experience using: Angel, Black Board, Desire 2 Learn, Moodle and UCompass Educator.

Professional Experience

Walsh College | Troy, MI | Jan, 2015 – present
Office of Online Learning
Instructional Designer

- ✓ Prepare instructor content for online delivery in Moodle
- ✓ Confer with Instructors to design their courses for online and hybrid courses
- ✓ Guide Instructors on best practices for online and hybrid course delivery
- ✓ Determine the best technology for content delivery
- ✓ Research/implement emerging technologies into online and hybrid courses

Henry Ford Community College | Dearborn, MI | Jan, 2003 – May, 2013

Religious Studies Department

Adjunct/Full-Time Instructor

- ✓ Developed/taught campus courses in World Religions
- ✓ Developed/taught four online courses in World Religions
- ✓ Developed/taught two new HFCC online/campus courses:
 - WR 233- Eastern Religions
 - WR 240- Myths & Symbols: Deciphering the Messages of Religious Texts

Instructional Technology Department
Adjunct Faculty Development Instructor

- ✓ Conducted “Preparing to Teach Online” seminar
- ✓ Worked with faculty to develop new courses for online instruction
- ✓ Taught technology workshops for faculty

Education

Master of Arts of Educational Technology | Michigan State University | 2014

Master of Arts in Religious Studies | University of Windsor | 1997

Bachelor of Arts in Religious Studies | Michigan State University | 1993

Additional references and Letters of Recommendation will happily be supplied.